EXAMPLES. At Busaco the French columns of attack were weakened as they advanced, and before they could reach the crest of the hill they were charged with descending impulse and hurled back; roads of communication had been so skilfully made that 10,000 men could pass at the accelerated pace to reinforce a point attacked. This is the true defensive-offensive system of Caesar and Chap. iii. Wellington, and will always enable the men of England to x hurl back any insane invaders. The French adopted this system at the battle of Toulouse; Napier defending the culvenet platform, the bridge of Jumeaux,...

Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
