Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from War A few leisure hours of my declining years have been devoted to the authorship of a play, which, since it does not deal with sex problems, murder or other crimes, is obviously unfit for production upon the modern stage. I have published it to discount a fame which may come to me long after I am dead and buried, and for the entertainment of friends - or foes. Possible criticism, which may depend upon individual taste or malice, is unanswerable. I hope, however, that I may not have transgressed upon American neutrality by endowing the German soldier with human attributes instead of representing him as a monstrosity. To me the warrior of whatever nation is a human being who is driven to inhuman acts by heredity, tradition, passion, and the compulsion of natural laws and social economic conditions, for which he is not responsible. I pity him for what he endures - and for what he inflicts. The palpable Germanism of my play is a territorial necessity of the plot. Within its limitation I...
