Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from To the Whole Whig Party of the United States It is not the first battle I have had to fight, single-handed and alone, against friend and foe, until the people came to the rescue, and forced the politicians to take the same course. I have not forgotten the scenes of 1841; they are about to be re-enacted. When I presented my views in the address referred to, I had hoped there would be no farther occasion, for the present at least, that I should have more to say. But four of my colleagues - to wit, Mr. Pendleton, Mr. Preston, Mr. Fulton, and Mr. Flournoy - have published a pamphlet, intended as an answer to mine, which, in regard to some of its facts and deductions, I purpose briefly, and very briefly, to notice. There is an ill-concealed vein, or attempt at irony, lurking through the piece, which I shall pass without observation, only-for the reason that I feel that I am as far above its reach, as the attempt itself is unworthy of consideration....
